

Wellness Champion

Individual in charge of coordinating the health and wellness activities alongside the wellness committee and may not have a background or education in health promotions. This person often acts as the wellness catalyst or wellness coordinator for the site or organization.